TISSUE BANK PROSTHETICS

Greetings,

One day in 2002 while working for a transplant organization in the midwest, I had an idea to reinvent the way donor restoration was done. I went back to my cubicle and put my thoughts on paper. There was a need in the industry to provide crematory friendly prosthetics, and while I did not have expertise in design, I have always had a good imagination and a willingness to try my best. I spent some time in my grandfather's basement, using his tools to make prototypes, and some of them had his initials "RLM" etched into them. He and I spent quality time together when I was young, so as his last days were nearing and the business's first days were beginning, I named this company after him and the tools we used together over the years.

I didn't realize how resounding the reception would be at our first AATB exhibition in San Diego in 2003. It was very exciting, and I realized I had started something that would profoundly affect my life as long as I stayed true to doing my best in product and service. I hired a couple employees, moved out of my basement operation into an old muffler shop, and we started making these products for you fifteen years ago.

Thank you for allowing us the opportunity to serve you.

The business has grown tremendously thanks to your support. We ship product everyday all over the United States and overseas. The linear feet of raw wood we process equates to about four miles a month! We take great pride in our process efficiencies and product craftsmanship and are always looking for ways to improve. Our team's relentless pursuit of excellence keeps value built into our products. It has been that way since the beginning, fifteen years ago.

Looking forward, we have a lot of exciting things happening here. We have new distribution channels, we're freight capable, and we've introduced new products that assist you in doing your best.

So thank you again for a great fifteen years. It is with humble gratitude I speak for all of us here at RLM. Our lives have been touched, and we look forward to the years ahead of us.

PURDUE
RESEARCH FOUNDATION

So have you been having a better time at work since I found RLM?

Oh yes,

I'm still amazed that you found them, Jenna.

It wasn't difficult at all, Mom

I just Googled crematory-friendly prosthetics.

Well, you did good. It has really taken a load off my shoulders at work.

How was school today?

Good.

I got an A on my lit test.

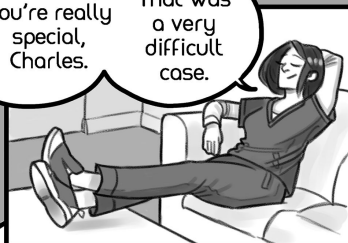

This casserole is the bomb, Mom.

Back at the hospital:

You know,
you're really
special,
Charles.

That was a very difficult
case.

Well,
thank
you,
I try.

I thought
I liked
my job before
you came
along.

Now that
we're
using RLM,
I KNOW I
LOVE
my job.

Hehe yeah,
I know what
you mean.

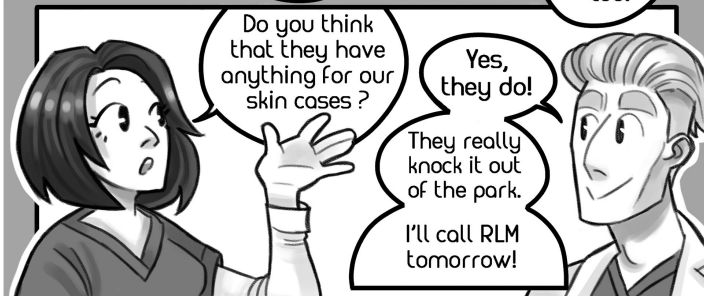

You're
really
special
too.

Do you think
that they have anything for our
skin cases?

Yes,
they do!

They really
knock it out
of the park.

I'll call RLM
tomorrow!

Goodnight,
Jenna.

Thanks
for the nice
compliment
tonight.

Hey Mom,
I was thinking
about RLM.

You know
what's really
neat about
that place?

What?

It all started
with an idea!

There aren't a lot of American manufacturers
left, and I think it's cool
that they produce so much the old-fashioned
way.

How did
you
get so
smart?

Oh
mom

Goodnight

Have a
good day
at work
tomorrow,
I love you.

As long as the
tissue banks
use RLM,

every day
is a good
day at work.

The greatest reason we do what we do is the fact that we believe every donor should be reconstructed in a respectful, aesthetically optimal manner. The use of the RLM prosthetics relays a message of caring, not only to the donor and their gift, but also to the funeral professionals who are integral in the care of the deceased.

RLM Tissue Bank Prosthetics is an innovative green company that works to make your reconstruction more efficient and universally acceptable for burial and cremation plans, at a price that is lower than our competitors. It is our job to support organ and tissue donation by providing our products with the greatest value, built-in.
